Homecoming Opens
Friday Night

The above shows a street in Mokena of a group of new homes. This scene is corner Mokena and Denny streets. This shows homes built of brick and wood, and a late model car heading into the garage.

Another new home and business in recent years is that of L. Brownlee on Wolf road.

AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY IS SALUTED IN MOKENA THIS WEEK END AND ITS CITIZENS WELCOME EVERY ONE TO THE HOMECOMING

This special edition for the 12th annual homecoming in Mokena is dedicated to Agriculture and Industry in Mokena over the past 100 years.

As always, all Mokena extends a cordial welcome to all visitors: those who return to their childhood homes, those who come from far and near for their annual visit to our Homecoming, those of our neighbors in all directions, new and old, and not least, each one says "welcome" to our neighbors who live next door perhaps, or who live in the next block or blocks away. We all say welcome to everyone, and hope each moment spent at the homecoming during the next three days will be happy ones.

And, if after reading the historical sketches in the following pages, would it be fitting, during these Homecoming days, to pay homage to the founders of this area, our sturdy and courageous pioneers by thinking of them, and realizing our wonderful blessings? Thinking of how they struggled to make this territory and if they had given up the struggle and returned to their former homes in the east, would we be where we are today? Progress was bound to come, but might it not have been delayed? We wonder.

And have we no struggle to make today, in the face of the conditions that exist in not only this territory, but our country as a whole? Perhaps the time has come for us to show our 'mettle' and fight to save us from going back to worse than pioneer days. And as those brave men and women, so must we be united in our efforts, one for all, and all for one.

'The Mail Must Go Through!'

It is a far cry from the days of the first means of sending and receiving mail. The pony express of which everyone is thrilled with its endeavors of taking mail overland, was a good fore-runner of our modern day mail carriers. The first post office in Will county was at Gougar's crossing west of New Lenox, where mail was brought once a week by railroad began to carry the mail we do not know, but it is presumed by those in the mail service that it was started soon after the Rock Island went through here.

It has been two months since this area within fifty miles from Chicago that the mails have been being delivered by truck. The picture below shows the mail truck delivering mail at the Mokena post office. Whether that is a step forward remains to be seen.

Mokena had been receiving and 'horse express fast line' from LaPorte, Ind. People would go to the Gougar post office to get their mail, gladly paying the 25c fee to get a most welcome letter. Postage was paid upon receiving it, not on sending, as now. The horse express gave way to the fast train service and we know that the Rock Island railroad was built through this section in 1852, but just when the sending mail out more times a day with train service than now. The mail truck comes here, delivers and receives mail about 4:30 each morning and again around 5 p.m. It is certain that mail is now being received later than formerly and the service is much slower. The post office officials claim to have made this move for economy's sake.

ADVERTISING REALLY PAYS

At a recent meeting of a group of advertising executives, one of them, a department store advertising director, who in three decades had increased the sales of his store 15 per cent, said that Advertising—newspaper, magazine, radio and TV, was a vital expenditure for reaching potential new customers and informing old customers of what was on sale and at what prices.

This director spoke from experience—his own. He stated that he ran four full pages every day. And that the result of the constant placing of his store name before the public had paid off in such an increase in business that he was glad to be able to pass on to others in similar positions the factual results of such a program.

He further stated that Advertising always will sell merchandise. And, that while other forms of ads will be beneficial, there is no substitute for the daily or weekly newspaper medium.

In this day of iconoclasts, who seek to tear down ideals and lead the public away from established and self-evident truths, it is refreshing to come across a man who believes in the fundamental elements of a tried and true process underlying the economic success of the established businesses of the United States.

Front Street and Wolf Road Are Not The Only Place Where Businesses are Established

Estelle's Beauty Shop on South Hacker street is giving a much needed service to the women in our town. Her hours are always filled and she does excellent work.

The Mokena Grain and Supply company, located just south of the Rock Island tracks, has been doing a lively business since the owners Robert Hohenstein and Harold Schultdt purchased the business from Cappel brothers a few years ago. They have repaired the grain elevator, built a new feed house and installed a new 30 ton scale.

Mrs. LaVerne Fisher on Midland avenue has given fine work in her Mokena Beauty Shop and is now giving most of her time to her home. She gladly takes customers when her time is available.

Mokena Schools

We are trying to keep ourselves within the boundary of 100 years, but in order to give reason for some conditions, we felt we have to go back in our story longer than that length of time.

It is interesting to note that the first public school in the village of Mokena was built in 1855 and was a small frame building costing $1,000.

But we note that the first school district in Will county was in Wilton Center and the first school was built there in 1850. It was built of stone, 20x30 feet, and above the door was the following inscription: "School District No. 1, 1850. Knowledge is Power."

The second Mokena public school was built in 1872 at a cost of $10,000. The present school built in 1929 cost $38,000; the addition being built this summer consisting of two class rooms, boys and girls lavatories and showers, kitchen and new office is costing $55,000. Mrs. Elizabeth Cappel is the principal who came here in 1929 being the first teacher in her room in the new school.

And now Frankfort township, which includes Mokena, will join with New Lenox and Manhattan townships to have a high school which was decided at an election held June 23 this year. On July 31, the members were elected to the board of education and last Friday evening, August 10, the board met with Louis F. Bottino, Will county superintendent of schools and were chosen by draw to serve the following terms:

Albert H. Krusemark, Frankfort, Lawrence Kohl, Mokena and George H. Bovee, Manhattan each drew three years as members of the board of education; James A. Dixon, Lincoln Estates, Frankfort township, and Raymond Reiter, New Lenox, two years; Lester Case, Manhattan, and Earl Robinson, New Lenox, one year.

Albert H. Krusemark was elected chairman of the board and Earl Robinson, secretary.

Classed as World's Worst Ragweed Area

Hay-fever sufferers no doubt will be pleased by the report that this portion of the Midwest is rated as the world's greatest ragweed pollen producing area.

The weather of late has been ideal for producing a bumper crop of ragweed, plus the indifference of property owners to the discomfort they are aiding and compounding by failing to cut down or eradicate the weed, which in turn is again multiplied will be on display?

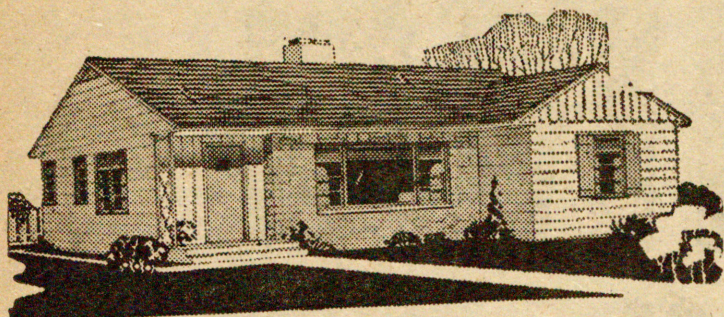

by failure of the respective municipalities to do their duty as regards the open prairies, of which there are many.

This definitely is a city job as the over abundance in recent years has put the pollen in the "menace" class when the number of victims and the cost of getting away from it are taken into account.

In addition to the discomfort and expense involved many hours of production are lost by a few granules of ragweed pollen floating around unchecked.

That The News-Bulletin will have a booth in the exhibit tent this year where you are invited to look over back issues of this paper and where the first edition which in turn is again multiplied will be on display?

That the A&P store at Mokena changed managers, George Perryman being ousted with a charge of being unfair to his customers?

That the paving of Wolf Road from Will county line north to 143rd street was a decided fact?

That the News-Bulletin called a mass meeting on the annexation question October 8, 1927?

That the village board went on record for annexation?

That the annexation question carried in the election October 11, 1927 by 130 votes?

That the annexation property consisted of the McIntosh subdivision up to where the Bueschel family now live?

That the first contract was let October 11 to Pronger Brothers, Blue Island for $244,289.42 to pave Wolf road from 143rd street south to Will-Cook county line, at 183rd street?

That Wolf road was an impassable mud road before paving?

That Mrs. Charles Bock had a store where Morry's tavern is now located, and that she advertised taking orders for all kinds of home bakery goods?

That the editor of The News-Bulletin would like you to think about something to write about for next year's homecoming edition? And perhaps you would like to write it also? Let's have suggestions.

EVOLUTION OF FARM MACHINERY HAND THRESHING TO COMBINING

The threshing machine! What an invention that was! From the days of laboriously beating the grain by hand, we can readily see what the threshing machine with the steam engine did for mankind. Those were the days of much activity on the farm. Along in August, when the grain was ripe, all farmers wives were busy getting ready, for the threshers. It was always hoped to find which would hold gas-oline and some other parts, he worked many days until he had something rigged together that would go which he called a thresh machine. This young man of 10 years then, may not think too well of this writer for calling his brain-child a contraption and apparatus, but we really do think it is a splendid piece of work for such a young boy, who ed that that event could be gotten over before rain came. Days were spent in preparing food for those hungry, hard-working men. And when the threshing set pulled in on a farm, there came the steam engine with the machine and the most important water wagon.

We picture here a scene on a nearby farm of the outfit. The water wagon which held 400 gal-today is still putting in all the time he can around machinery, especially fixing cars. You may want to give him an order to build something along that line, and in that case he can be found in his father's garage. Just ask for Harold Cooper, he's the one.

Well the old threshing machine outfit has gone out of existence, ions of water, was kept busy during the day supplying water for the steam engine. The wagon boy made four and five trips each threshing day and he was always being called.

But there is a great improvement even on the threshing machine today, now they are run by a tractor.

Boys will be boys, and here we show an interesting picture of a young boy who built a threshing almost, but there are still quite a few farmers who would rather thresh and have a nice big straw stack. But those who have given up that mode now are combining. With combining, the machine, powered by tractor, goes right into the field, cuts the oats, rather close to the ground, threshes the grain off. The oats go at once into a wagon to be carried to the barn and the straw is either left on the ground or machine. This writer happens not to know too much about threshing machines, in fact hardly anything, but we do know there happened to be a few wheels laying around on his father's farm, so with them and a tank he managed later raked and taken to be stored. Combining seems to be THE thing today.

The above cut shows the combine in action on the farm where the Roy Kohls are living. Marvin Kohl is running the tractor.

First Steel Plow Built in This Area

In going back in the history of this section for 100 years, does it give us today a cringe to recall our first citizens and were they not all farmers? They broke the virgin sod with oxen teams and wooden plows, which broke so easily because of the heavy unbroken sod. How laborious that task must have been! But after finally getting a clearing, the fertile prairie and woodland yielded well. So well in fact, that no one thought for many years to put back into the land a portion of that nourishment that had been taken out. Now, with the organizations of and for our farmer citizens, study is constantly being made of how to save our soil and replace what has been taken out. The industry of fertilizers has become quite a business. In fact, many are the fertilizer plants now throughout the country where farmers may get their need in that line. Indeed, there is such a plant in Mokena, owned and operated by Chester Ebert.

The steel plow surely can be said to be one of the important steps toward building up this territory. This section is proud that it can lay claim to the building of the first steel plow. The 1878 history states: "John Lane . . . from New York came (to the Homer area, just northwest of Mokena), in 1833. He was the inventor of the first steel breaking plow ever used in northern Illinois or in the western country."

John Lane was the great grandfather of James Frazer, who now lives in Homer. A large marker, 6 feet long by three feet high, was erected several years ago on the corner of Gougar road and east 7th street out of Lockport. It was called in the early days Cream street, as there was a creamery there. This marker was erected by popular subscription taken from the people in that area. It is of concrete with the wording:

"In memory of John Lane who made the first steel plow in 1833 on this farm."

There has always been a controversy because it has been claimed that John Deere made the first steel plow. Mr. Lane had a blacksmith shop on the above mentioned corner where he did all blacksmith work for this large area. Jacob Burch came from New York when he was around 17 years old, alone, and lived about three years with the John Lane family and helped in the blacksmith shop.

His son, the present Henry Burch, 89, who is hail and hearty today, and who lives with his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, on the old home place, remembers well of his father telling him how one day he suggested to Mr. Lane, "Why don't you make a steel plow". Thereon, Mr. Lane went to a saw mill and got a broken saw blade, took it home and made a plow of it. It proved such a marvelous help in the plowing, that everyone wanted such a steel plow and Mr. Lane couldn't make them fast enough. He had to order steel from England in order to supply the demand. The first steel plow which he made he used on his own farm first and everyone liked it so well, Mr. Lane was urged to take out a patent, but he refused saying this was his "gift to mankind."

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AND NEW HOMES SINCE FIRST VILLAGE BOARD WAS FORMED

The first Mokena homecoming was held October 21 and 22, 1938. We well remember those dates, for out of a balmy fall season the weather man decided to give us a rather cold reception, for it turned out so cold, winter wraps had to be resorted to, to keep warm.

The year homecoming was held September 15 and 16 we fared better. Thereafter the dates were set earlier on the weekend of the third week in August, and usually the weather has been good.

Quoting from the first homecoming edition of The News-Bulletin we find "Mokena is 107 years old..." thus making Mokena 121 years old this year.

The village of Mokena was incorporated when an election was held June 14, 1880 and the first trustees were John Cappel, Ozias McGovney, John Zahn, George Smith and Valentine Scheer, the latter being an uncle of the late William Semmler, founder and publisher of The News-Bulletin. Of the other trustees then elected, there are many descendants still living in Mokena.

The first village fathers had much to do to get the new village in order. There are some still living here today who can recall the old wooden sidewalks, the big improvements of the kerosene street lamps, and the street lighter, who each night would make his rounds with his ladder and lighting material and light each burner. And again in the morning he would make the rounds to clean each lamp.

Then came the days of concrete sidewalks, and electric street lights, and improved hard roads, and now our new street lights for a few blocks on Front street which makes night turn to day.

Another great improvement was the bringing of village water into those homes wanting it. Electricity has worked wonders what with the electric washing machine, irons, heating being furnished by gas and oil, and now air conditioning—what would those pioneer souls think if they could live today?

And too we see fertile farm land lying within and next to our village border, turning into a place of homes, new streets and much activity. Each week sees new homes being built and new people coming out to our fair village, and we say welcome, and hope they will enjoy every day that they live here and catch the spirit of those who settled here many years ago to make a home for themselves and family, a home for better and giving to the community honest, noble ideas and efforts that will be a pride to look back to when another hundred years have past.

Quiz Corner

—That in 1927 The Mokena Development and Hard Road association planned and carried out an extensive advertising campaign to create interest in closing a gap of six miles on Wolf road? That gap was from the Cook county line on the north of Mokena and extended to route 30 on the south.

—That the Willys-Overland Inc. automobile company were bringing out a marvelous new car, the Whippet?

—That Col. Don C. Hall spoke at the Kankakee fair on Governor's day in behalf of the gap on Wolf road?

—That annexation was a vital issue at Mokena?

Did Our Early Settlers Ever Have Any Fun?

To go back in history for 100 years in Mokena at once brings to our minds the question, what did Mokena look like then; what, if anything, was here and who were the people here? It is hard for us today to visualize what a place did look like so many years ago.

By referring to the Will County history of 1878 we find that pioneers of this region dated events back to "the big snow of 1831." The inciting cause of the immigration which over-flowed the prairies early in the 30's was the report of the marvelous beauty and fertility of the region thru the east, by those who had participated in the Blackhawk campaign with General Scott. Chicago and Milwaukee then had a few hundred inhabitants and Gurdon S. Hubbard's trail from the former city to Kaskaskia lead almost through wilderness.

Vegetables and clothing were largely distributed through the regions adjoining the lakes and streams from the Ohio towns. Men came to what is now Illinois when barely an acre was in cultivation. Some of these who settled in Chicago when that metropolis was a cheerless swamp site went southward into civilization. Immigrants from Pennsylvania in 1830 left behind them but one small railway in the coal region 30 miles in length and made their way to the northwest with ox teams finding in northern Illinois petty settlements scores of miles apart, although the southern portion of the state was fairly dotted with farms.

Because our area is closely related to Homer and Lockport we think it interesting to quote from the history the following: "The first permanent settler in Lockport township was Armstead Runyon, who came to that neighborhood in 1830. . . . He was about 18 years old when he came from Ohio to Danville, and then to Lockport as above stated. His first winter in this section was that of the "deep snow", so vividly remembered by the few old settlers. . . who went through that memorable winter. Mr. Runyon had a large amount of stock, most of which he left in Danville except some hogs which he brought with him, thinking they would winter on nuts and acorns, but they all perished during the deep snow, as he had nothing to feed them. The next spring, as soon as the snow had sufficiently disappeared to allow travel with safety, he took his men and went to Danville after the remainder of his stock, and for provisions. The high waters, consequent on the melting of such quantities of snow, detained him six weeks beyond the time he expected to be gone, and his family ran short of provisions before his return. For several weeks before he returned they had nothing to live on but salt pork and corn bread made of meal so musty that it did not seem fit for a dog to eat.

When Mr. Runyon and family came to this section they lived in a tent until he got his cabin ready to move into. The prairie wolves used to come around that tent and make the night hideous with their blood-curdling howls. When the news came of the Black Hawk war, and that the savages were moving in this direction, Mr. Runyon was plowing in the field, which he continued until noon notwithstanding the exciting rumors. He then gathered his family and what goods he designed to take, and moved on to Hickory Creek where the settlers were to rendezvous preparatory to retreating toward Danville. But upon his arrival there he found they were already gone. His company consisted of his own family, Edward Poor's, Holder Sisson's and Selad Lanfear's. Finding that the Hickory Creek (our Mokena and New Lenox area) people were gone, they held a council of war, and, at Mr. Runyon's suggestion, went to Fort Dearborn in Chicago instead of Danville. Mr. Runyon was the first to propose to come out of Chicago and build the block house which was built on Mr. Sisson's place. Indians were plentiful in this section when they first settled there, but they were the friendly Pottawatomes who had an encampment, or town, on both sides of the Runyon's place and their trail from the one to the other went by their house. They nearly always came in when passing but did nothing wrong and generally behaved very well.

While Mr. Runyon was gone to Danville, and detained so long, it was reported that small-pox was at the Indian camps, and Mrs. Runyon refused to let any of them come into her house; when they were seen approaching the proverbial latch-string was drawn in. This very seriously offended the "noble red men" but they offered no molestation.

The above mentioned was elected captain when the Black Hawk war broke out.

Interesting story of Mr. Sisson is told how he went to Michigan to collect from a family to whom he had sold a "drove of cattle" on time, but the trip was fruitless and as the winter had set in he and his family at home suffered much hardship. During his absence his wife had to go out and cut wood to keep her family from freezing. There were few neighbors and they were far apart; Indians were plentiful, but friendly. The heroic woman endured the long absence of her husband hardly hoping for his return.

His sufferings and perils were great, as he was crossing Mud Lake with his Indian pony, the ice gave way and the pony and rider were submerged; the weather was piercing cold and the snow nearly two feet deep. It was night, and in his frozen clothes he rode on to his home, not knowing whether his family was alive or not. Upon his arrival home, and finding his wife and children, history records, he sat down and wept.

Another incidence of this family records the burning of his 60 ton of hay, standing in ricks, and his 170 head of sheep which in this fire were nearly all burned to death or so injured that the rest died, except seven or eight; many of his cattle died from the scorching and those left he was obliged to sell for a dollar or two apiece to keep them from starving. We are recalling to mind the above because, the historian in 1878 stated: "Such were the hardships borne by the pioneers who made this country what it is, and prepared us homes which cannot be surpassed in any state, or in any country. And yet we frequently hear people complain of hard times. Hard times! Why the present generation knows no more of hard times than, to use a homely phrase, 'a hog does of a holiday.'"

And today, if we should compare our times with those sturdy pioneers, we with all our electrical appliances, hard roads, conveyances, modern farm machinery, gas, kerosene or bottle gas cooking facilities and more, it seems we would never size up to those courageous people, for without their courage and perseverance, we today would not be enjoying the many blessings that we are.

Wolf road is becoming quite a business section in Mokena. Another thriving place of business on Wolf road is the Swanberg Farm and Auto Service company who are the local dealers of the Minneapolis - Moline farm machinery.

Charles Swanberg is manager. This company has been here a few years and also repairs automobiles.

Foreign Rural Youth Visit Illinois Farms

Maurice Kennedy, 27, Dublin, Ireland, and Archibald Fleming, 20, Melrose, Scotland, are two of the 1951 International Farm Youth Exchange delegation who have been visiting on farms in Illinois for the past two months.

Rural young people from 13 foreign countries make up this year's delegation. They have been visiting on farms all over the United States learning how rural families here live and work.

Later in September, Jean Stevens, 21, Wellington, England, and Joseph Berger, 28, Boson, Switzerland, will spend a month or more living with Illinois farm families.

Both Kennedy and Fleming attended the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., in June after their arrival in this country. They returned to Illinois with this state's delegation on June 23.

Kennedy then spent two weeks on the Carl S. Miller farm near Clinton, DeWitt county. Miller's son Merle was one of the Illinois delegation to National 4H camp. July 8-23 Kennedy was on the John Gallahue farm near Piper City, Ford county. Then he attended State 4H Junior Leadership Camp at 4H Memorial Camp near Monticello.

The rest of his stay in Illinois includes a tour of other state 4H activities and a visit to Southern Illinois District 4H Camp at Lake West Frankfort. From August 1 to 8 he will visit the Ivan Archibald farm near New Lenox. This is the home of Rosemary Archibald who is one of the 1951 IFYE delegates. She is living on farms in Ireland. Kennedy will spend the rest of his time in New York state until he returns to Ireland in October.

Fleming has been visiting on farms in Whiteside county since he came to Illinois on June 23. He also was a guest at the State 4H Junior Leadership Camp. From August 3-10 he will visit the Carl Miller farm, and will attend the Illinois State Fair from August 10-13. He will spend the rest of his United States visit on farms in New Mexico.

The International Farm Youth Exchange project is a plan that provides for selected farm young people of the United States to visit cooperating countries where they live and work with farm families for about four and one-half months. The plan also offers the opportunity for farm families in the United States to be host to rural young people from those same countries.

Illinois has taken part in this plan for the last three years. Delegates this year are Rosemary Archibald of Joliet and Viva Leela Moody, Erie, Whiteside county, who is visiting Denmark. They are among the 58 American young people in foreign countries this year. Meta Marie Kellar, LaSalle county, in 1949, and Wendel B. Swanson, Winnebago county, in 1950, were Illinois' other two international delegates.

Mrs. George Stork, better known as Grandma Stork, died in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Cappel Wednesday. In two weeks she would have been 99 years old.

She was a remarkable old lady being active and ambitious, and up to a few years ago had a good memory, and could tell many interesting accounts of by-gone days when this section was a wilderness and the Red Man's home. Early this summer she broke her arm by falling, but it is only within the past few weeks that she has been confined to her bed.

She came to this country with her husband from Darmstadt, Germany in June, 1852. The trip was made from Germany to New York in 42 days by a sail boat. After landing in Chicago she walked to Mokena, arriving here on June 23rd. A friend took them to their new home. The first stopping place was the log cabin across from the Brummond farm which still stands on the Andrew Cappel farm.

In 1857 Mr. Stork bought the present homestead, on which stood a log cabin said to have been erected by the Indians. This cabin is still standing, and served as a home until the present frame building was built. Indians were still in this section and often came to the Stork home for vegetables out of the garden.

Five children were born to this couple—Philip, Mrs. John Cappel, Mrs. Geo. Wannemacher, Mrs. Lawrence Schweser and Mrs. Deitz, who passed away this summer.

Mrs. Stork had passed thru many hardships as hard work was the pioneer's lot. She was a faithful attendant of St. John's German Evangelical church until old age rendered her feeble in some ways.

The funeral was held from the late home Friday at 1 o'clock, to the St. John's church. Burial was in St. John's cemetery.

Public Service Plans More Gas Service On New Pipeline Finish

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois today reported to the Illinois Commerce Commission that it expects to add 10,000 additional home gas space heating customers as promptly as the completion of the new pipeline from Texas is assured and a substantial additional number after the pipeline gas is actually flowing from Texas. If present construction schedules of the pipeline are not delayed, it is hoped that the first 10,000 at the top of the waiting list can be authorized to connect their gas furnaces by the end of the year. The company has approximately 90,000 persons on its gas heat waiting list.

H. P. Sedwick, executive vice president, said that the company's facilities were stretched to the limit during the severe winter last year, and for that reason it is impossible to add any additional space heating customers until there is assurance that the supply from the new pipeline will be available before the very cold days in January.

As soon as the company is assured that the pipeline will be completed before the very cold days of the coming winter, it will begin to notify customers on the waiting list who are in the first group.

"We appreciate the patience those waiting for gas space heating have shown during this difficult period", Sedwick said. "The construction of almost 1,400 miles of pipeline from Texas which was undertaken by Texas Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Company, during a severe winter, and a spring and summer which have seen the worst floods in history in the south-west is an extremely difficult job and one that taxes the engineering ability and ingenuity of the constructors."

Sedwick also stated that the attaching of additional space heating customers might be affected by any limitation order issued by the Petroleum Administrator for Defense if it issued any limitation order.

Front St., Mokena, Ill.

Along with our growing village, industry has kept step. Since last homecoming the Welsh Lumber and Supply company has completed their splendid new warehouse and office on Wolf road and the railroad tracks. We present here a view showing the length of their new ware house and office, and many new homes here are being supplied with their materials. The company is sparing nothing to make their lumber yards and warehouse the most modern and best equipped one to be found in many larger places than Mokena. The owners are Walter W. Welsh and Elias A. Brown.

The above picture is of the Mokena Branch of the New Lenox Lumber and Hardware company and is located on Wolf road. Glen Valley is the manager. They have spacious warehouses in the area and supply many new homes in this area. This building was completed in June of 1950.

MAIN STREET

To go back 100 years for Mokena we find where Mokena had "five general stores, two hardware stores, two drug stores, two blacksmith shops, two wagon shops, two butcher shops, and seven lager-beer saloons, grain buyers, two physicians. A large majority of the citizens are Germans; are honest, industrious and enterprising citizens, quietly moving on in their own easy way without interfering in the business of others."

Today the new businesses on Front street since last homecoming are the Ida's Confectionary and Ice Cream parlor and the E&H Variety store, managed by Mrs. Esther Nitsche of Orland Park and Mrs. Hilda Nitsche of Tinley Park, and the Richardson's Meat Market.

Other business establishments on Front street are: the Mokena Motor company, agents for the Kaiser-Frazer cars and they do auto repair; The Mid-West store, recently acquired by the George Wannemacher grocery and meat store where a new meat department has just been added; Morry Larson's tavern, The Mokena State bank, Richard Muehler's Tavern, Joe Grobarcik's Royal Blue grocery and meat store, Cooper & Hostert Ford dealers and auto repair garage, Edwin Dunham's hardware, The News-Bulletin office and plant, Ronen's Radio and TV repair service, Edward's Coffee Shop, the Post Office, Harr's Barber Shop, Boleman's Drug store, our modern Rock Island station, Dina's barber shop, Mokena Coal and Feed company.

Exhibit on Forged Documents Being Held in Springfield

Methods used in the detection of faked and forged documents form the subject matter of an exhibit currently on display in the Museum room of the Archives building at Springfield, Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett, state librarian, announced today.

The exhibit, prepared by the Archives section of the Illinois State Library, is based on two books by Albert S. Osborn, "The Problem of Proof" and "Questioned Documents", and several magazine articles, Mr. Barrett said.

It illustrates the use, under strong magnifying equipment, of such aids as the angle measure, curvimeter, line rule and proportion test plate in the comparison of both typewritten and handwritten material to detect fakes and forgeries, he said.

Photographed examples of fraudulent documents, reproduced from Osborn's books, are included in the exhibit, together with an explanation of how the fraud was established.

In one instance, an alleged will dated 1902 was proved fraudulent because of a peculiarity in the watermark in the paper. "Berkshire Bond" was the paper used, but in the watermark the "B" of the word "Berkshire" did not appear. It was proved that this error in the manufacture of the paper occurred in 1907, five years after the claimed date of the will.

In another instance, a document was proved false because the watermark in the paper was not designed until 15 years after the claimed date of the document, the typewriter used was not made until 31 years after that date and the type of paper fastener used was not manufactured until 10 years after the date.

In handwriting, experts say that styles are as dated as those of clothes, and fraud is frequently detected because of discrepancies in that field.

Examples of attempted fraud shown include a check raised from $100 to $800, another raised from $34 to $9000, and a third in which the perforations in a check written on a check-writing machine were filled in and the check repunched to raise it from $24 to $2400.

The late Albert Sherman Osborn, author of the two books used to compile the material for the exhibit, was an authority on questioned documents. In an introduction to one of the books, he wrote that his purpose was not only to assist the lawyer in court proceedings concerning documents, but to enable the banker and businessman to detect questionable ones. The methods he outlined have been used in court on many occasions to prove the fraudulence or authenticity of documents.

IT'S HOMECOMING TIME IN MOKENA

AND AUCTION SALE THIS WEEKN. L. Public Schools
To Start Sept. 4

School sessions will be resumed in the New Lenox public school Tuesday, September 4 at nine o'clock according to the calendar approved by the New Lenox board of education.

There will be only one change in the New Lenox teaching staff this year. Mrs. Grace Price, who has taught the last nine years in the Spangler school, will replace Mrs. Marilyn Falk Miller in the 2-3 grade room in the Haven school. Other members of the faculty are as follows: Haven school, Marie Monge, grades 1-2; Gretchen Lance, grades 3-4; Anita Andres, grade 5; Helen Holt, grade 6; Marie Knater, grade 7; Allison Gibson, grade 8. Oakview school, Geneva Oster, kindergarten; Irma Fisher, grades 1-2; Ruth Mainwood, grades 2-3; Mabel Wenger, grade 4. William Reed, music supervisor; John Oster, superintendent.

Parents of children entering school for the first time in either first grade or in kindergarten and all who enter grade five are reminded that the state law requires that all such children are required to have a physical and dental examination. As the enforcement of this law is becoming more stringent each year, Superintendent Oster has advised teachers in these grades to enroll no children who do not present the proper evidence of such examination. This is not a local regulation. It is a state law and local schools have no choice, except to abide by it. All Will county doctors and dentists have the proper examination forms. If parents intend to have the examinations made in another county they should telephone Mr. Oster at 5911 to secure the proper forms. Lists of text books to be used in the schools will be in the mails in the next few days.

'Oldest Ford' at New Lenox

A Ford of the first vintage was seen in New Lenox Monday morning when the trailer on which it was loaded stopped at a filling station for refueling. The pioneer car was fitted with a steering bar, the fore-runner of the steering wheel and was enroute from California to the Ford museum in Detroit.

District 210 Board of Education Elects
Officers; Allots Terms of Service

The newly elected board of education of Community High School district Number 210, Will County, Illinois, met with Louis F. Bottino, Will County Superintendent of Schools on Friday evening, August 10, 1951, in the Oakview School, New Lenox, Ill.

Mr. Bottino reviewed the duties and responsibilities of the newly elected Board after which the members drew lots to determine the length of their respective terms of office.

The results of this drawing were as follows:

To serve for 1 year: Raymond Reiter, New Lenox Township, Lester Case, Manhattan township.

To serve for 2 years: James A. Dixon, Frankfort township, J. Earl Robinson, New Lenox twp.

To serve for 3 years: Albert Krusemark Jr., Frankfort township, George Bovee, Manhattan township, Lawrence Kohl, Frankfort township.

Following the drawing of lots for lengths of terms of office the board unanimously voted to name Albert Krusemark, Jr., president and J. Earl Robinson, secretary, each to serve in this capacity for 1 year.

Nomination of Albert Krusemark Jr., for president was made by J. Earl Robinson, seconded by James A. Dixon. Nomination of J. Earl Robinson for secretary was made by George Bovee and seconded by Lawrence Kohl.

In charge of the meeting, Mr. Krusemark thanked the board for the honor and privilege of serving them as president. He stated that he knew the members were well aware of the large amount of work and great responsibility that lie ahead for them. He expressed himself as being certain that the board was of sufficient calibre to carry out their responsibilities in a manner that both the youth and taxpayers of the whole district would be well served.

An underlying thought that pervaded the first meeting was a desire on the part of all board members to do everything possible to unify the district.

Among the items of business

The New Lenox Lions Club will hold its third annual festival on the evenings of August 17 and 18 in the Haven grade school grounds.

During the early part of this year the Lions purchased the grounds of the St. Jude's church for the purpose of having a meeting place and also to be able to provide a hall for the community. The hall is furnished free of charge to such organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts and the 4H clubs.

It is also available for other club meetings and parties for a nominal charge. The hall is now being used regularly by the VFW Sportsmans club and the Toastmasters club of New Lenox. After certain alterations and refinements it will be ideal for dinner parties, weddings and wedding receptions. A portion of the proceeds of the festival is being allocated to remodel the hall and for charitable and civic purposes.

In the past, many pairs of eyeglasses have been purchased for worthy individuals who would otherwise be deprived of them. Approximately $700.00 has been spent to date for playground equipment which is to be erected at the Haven avenue and Oak View parochial school.

The first major project of the Lions club was the purchase of the spotlight for the protection of school children crossing Lincoln highway during the school year.

The Lions invite you to come early to get your share of the many things that will be put up for auction. The auction in itself is worth the time spent. The club will be glad to receive for auction any item no longer useful to the owner. For pickup, telephone William Heidrich, New Lenox 4321.

Refreshments will be sold by the Ladies of the Lions.

Dr. Moser to Attend
National Convention

Dr. and Mrs. James Moser of Frankfort will leave next Tuesday to attend the A. V. M. A. national convention in Milwaukee, Wis. The convention is scheduled for August 21 and 22. Veterinarians will attend from Canada, Mexico, Alaska, Hawaiian Islands and from this country.

transacted at the first meeting were the following:

1. Board decided to hold regular meetings on the second Wednesday of each month. Meetings to be held in each of the incorporated villages in the district on a rotation basis and in the following order: New Lenox, Mokena, Frankfort, and Manhattan.

2. Board decided to rotate the school treasurership among the townships included in the district and designated the treasurer of Manhattan township, Ralph Goodwin as custodian of the funds of the district for the first year.

3. Board decided to proceed immediately in drawing up a tentative budget so that action thereon may be completed prior to the last Tuesday in September which is the final date on which school districts may make their tax levies for the coming year.

4. Board authorized the secretary to contact the various schools where students from the district have been attending high school with a view toward having these schools continue to accept their students for the coming term on a tuition basis, tuition payments to be guaranteed by the Board of High school district No. 210.

Pending a regulating of the district's financial situation the board decided against providing transportation for the coming school term.

The board decided to prepare a budget and to make a levy for 1951, to give the district tax money in 1952. Tax anticipation warrants will be sold to give the district some funds to carry out the work.

The board intends to make a survey of the entire district before starting plans for the building or considering the selection of a site, and the education department of the University of Illinois will be asked to assist with the survey.

Suggestions for a name for the new school will be appreciated by the new board. This naming of the school will be considered at the next meeting and a short name descriptive of this area would be favored.

The new pastor, Rev. Ronald H. Hartung, of the Mokena Methodist church conducted a board meeting in the church on Sunday afternoon. There was a good attendance with much interest shown.

An item in this paper reporting the July 3 village board, was in error when it stated that the board voted to engage a village attorney by the year. At that meeting they voted to hire an attorney to draw up the appropriation ordinance.

At the August meeting the board voted to engage a village attorney and to pay him a retainer fee of $300.00 a year in addition to any special work he does. This is the first time the village board has engaged an attorney paying him an annual fee.

Village Attorney

At the village board meeting held August 7, three petitioners appeared in person; Norval Robinson requested the approval of the board on the subdividing of the Robinson property which is in a business zoned area; Charles Rose asked the board to include the lowering of Third street, near his property, when the street program is planned and Raymond Bisgrove was given permission to cut down a tree on the strip ceded by Mrs. John Walsh, to the village to be used as a thoroughfare. The Civic association was given permission to sell beer during the three-day homecoming, with the provision that they carry proper liability insurance.

An estimate from the state highway department was read. This included a street improvement program, using $2200.00, of the village share of the motor fuel tax funds, which amounts to about $2400.00. The state approves of the program for arterial streets. A report was made that grass and weeds have been cut on village property. Several complaints were received and action taken on them.

Samples of water have been submitted to the state health department. All residents will be required to have water meters and 10 day notices will be sent to those delinquent in paying their water bills. The board will approve of Niagara water meters, which are now available. Henry Boleman was authorized for one year to assist the village treasurer by accepting the payment for water bills at the drug store as a convenience to residents.

S. mail trucks will be marked with yellow and five minute parking only will be allowed from 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. The company given the contract for auditing the village books reported that they would do the work this week. The appropriation ordinance as prepared by the village attorney, Harry Schenk, was accepted.

The board plans to consult with engineers on plans for a sewer system which will meet the state health board requirements, tentatively the first week in September. A special meeting will be called to provide for the elimination of cross connections which are considered a source of water contamination and also to work out the details of the employment of a maintenance man for the village.

On a motion made by board member, Russell Anderson, the board voted to engage Harry L. Schenk, of Joliet, paying him a retainer of $300.00 for the year with added fees for any work he may do that requires extra time, and making his time of employment retro-active to July 1, 1951. Mr. Schenk is well known in this community. He is the brother-in-law of Winton Hamilton, a partner of Mr. Anderson's in the building of several new homes on Parker street near Wolf road.

Plan New Homes For Robinson's Subdiv'n.

The property of 3½ acres at Wolf and LaPorte roads has been surveyed and subdivided and will be known as Robinson's subdivision. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robinson, have the lots laid out, 60 feet by 125 feet, and plan to sell them only after they have erected homes on them.

This subdivision will provide space for many homes and lies entirely within the village limits.

Stock Car Trophy
To Homer Driver

Don Waldvogel, who won at Peotone, August 10, in the stock car race received further honors. He was the fastest qualifier on the track, winning the heat race, the feature race and the trophy.

Don, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldvogel, of Homer, is the first driver this season to be a three-time feature winner. He holds a track record of 17.32 seconds.

After many weeks of planning and hard work by the members of the Mokena Civic association, in behalf of the annual Homecoming for Mokena, it will open tomorrow night, Friday, August 17 at 7:30 o'clock.

The affair will be held on Front street and the Rock Island railroad property as usual. All Mokena is looking forward to this occasion and each business place along the site will be holding open house in their part of welcoming everyone.

The homecoming committee is composed of: Charles Swanberg, Civic association president; George H. Bills, secretary; Stanley Williams, general chairman; Elmer Schoeneck, entertainment; Lyman F. Teague, publicity; Berle Needham, finance; Fred Lehmann, personnel; Milton Geuther, concessions; Alfred Hatch, prizes; Charles Swanberg, farm exhibits; Norval Robinson, parade; Whitney Carter, Emcee; Walter Schoeneck and Jack Schaub, electricians.

The platform will be at the usual location, but it is planned to change some of the booths etc. There will be a large tent to hold exhibits of various kinds.

High class entertainment has been arranged for performances Friday night, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and night.

The refreshment stand will be in charge of the VFW Auxiliary with Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, chairman. We know from previous years they will do a good job.

As Norval Robinson did such a good job with the parade last year he has been handed that job again this year. The parade will start at 1:30 Sunday afternoon, will go east on Front street to Dunham's corner. The Mobile units will meet at Robinson's field.

From what we have heard so far, "Wheels-a-rolling, Legs-a-legging" will be the order. Whether you can enter a float, buggy, a decorated bike or trike, or even a scooter, or if you would like to march, get into the biggest and best parade you ever saw in Mokena. You will be astounded at the number of participants. Several well-known people from this area will act as judges. Loving cups will be awarded to the most unusual and the best participants; also honorable mention ribbons. Join the fun and you'll get a "bang out it" the committee states.

There will be something to hold your interest at all times.

Another unusual affair will be the pancake supper Saturday night, in the VFW hall. Serving will be from 5 to 9 p. m. The Girl Scouts of Mokena are selling tickets. The price is well worth what you will get, in addition to a good meal, a box of pancake mix is given to each adult.

The Queen contest is showing lively action. The Misses Jean Boleman, Beverly Hall, Shirley Chamberlin and Helen Swanberg are in this race. Get your favorite candidate in the lead by getting your vote in. The queen will be crowned Sunday evening at about 10:30 o'clock. The lucky lady will be given a valuable wrist watch.

Other prizes will be awarded each night.

There will be the usual ferris wheel, merry go round and other rides to please young and old.

Inflation—What It Is. Inflation is the condition of a country's economy when there is more money than goods to satisfy the demand the money generates. Inflation can be cured only by reducing the supply of money or by increasing the supply of goods until they are in balance. Money is increased by issuing government bonds and by the expansion of bank credit. The supply of civilian goods is decreased when our production machinery is given over to the production of war material. That condition exists today—a greatly increased money supply; a smaller supply of consumer goods available.

Inflation is a thief in the night; it robs us of part of our wages, part of our insurance, part of our retirement benefits, and part of our savings. Inflation stalks behind every housewife and steals food from her market-basket, taking it from both her and her children. Inflation is an embezzler, a saboteur that seeks to wreck our whole domestic economy. Inflation is Public Enemy No. 1.

Inflation—Its Cause. Congressman Jesse Wolcott (R-Mich.), the best informed man in the Congress on the subject of inflation, made the direct charge on the Floor of the House that the New Deal Administration has been following a policy for the last 15 years designed to bring about inflation and consequent high prices. Congressman Wolcott stated:

"In the 1930's Congress passed many laws recommended by President Roosevelt, all designed to increase prices, to increase the national income, to expand credit, to bring about inflation."

In support of this charge the Congressman cited the following: 1. In the 1930's we started a huge $4½ billion Public Works Program, and also a $3½ billion Made Work Program, to increase income, to inflate the currency, to make cheap money. 2. In the 1930's we reduced the gold reserve behind the issue of Federal Reserve Notes from a required 40% to a required 25% where it is today. This greatly broadened the base for the issuance of new currency. 3. In the 1930's we reduced the reserves required behind all bank deposits from 35% to 25% where it is today. This produced a new and unusually large credit structure. 4. In the 1930's we said the Federal Reserve no longer needed to put up Commercial Paper to secure the issuance of new Federal Reserve Notes; it could put up Government Debt Paper in lieu of Commercial Paper, thus tying the value of our currency to our Federal debt. Hereafter, the higher the debt, the cheaper the money and the higher the prices. Inflation follows of naturally and as automatically as the night follows the day.

Inflation—Its Cure. To cure inflation Congressman Wolcott suggested that if the Administration is really sincere in its desire to stabilize our economy, it must reverse its policy. It could do the following:

1. "We could increase the Gold Reserves behind the issuance of Federal Reserve Notes from its present 25% to its former 40%."

2. "The Federal Reserve could increase the Bank Reserves required behind deposits from 25% to 35% and thus greatly curtail the credit structure. This would be the reverse of what took place in the 1930's."

3. "The Federal Reserve could again be required to put up sound Commercial Paper as security or collateral behind all new issues of currency instead of Federal Debt Paper. This would un-tie the value of our currency from our Federal debt."

TINLEY TOPS GRANDVIEW

Cinches Title Tie

Grandview visited Tinley Sunday, August 12 and went home on the short end of a 9-5 score. The Sportsmen in winning this game assured Tinley of at least a tie for the championship of the Southwest Community League. Tinley has three more games to play and a win in any of the three remaining will give the Sportsmen the championship.

L. Jonaitis pitching for Grandview, held Tinley to two hits in the first five innings, but due to loose fielding Tinley scored three runs in the second and one in the fourth when Rump doubled, went to third on a passed ball and stole home. At the end of the fifth inning the score was tied 4 all.

In the sixth Tinley bunched a walk and three hits for three runs to go ahead 7-4.

The seventh inning started with Kuech leading off with a single, Blonquist singled, Rick rolled out pitcher to first, Nasebandt was safe on a fielders choice as Kuech scored and Blonquist was tossed out second to third, Trepanier singled, stole second, Rump singled for his fourth hit. Nasebandt scored and Trepanier was tossed out at the plate when the double steal failed to work.

Grand View tallied their last run in the ninth on a walk, an infield out and a single, making the final score 9-5 in Tinley's favor.

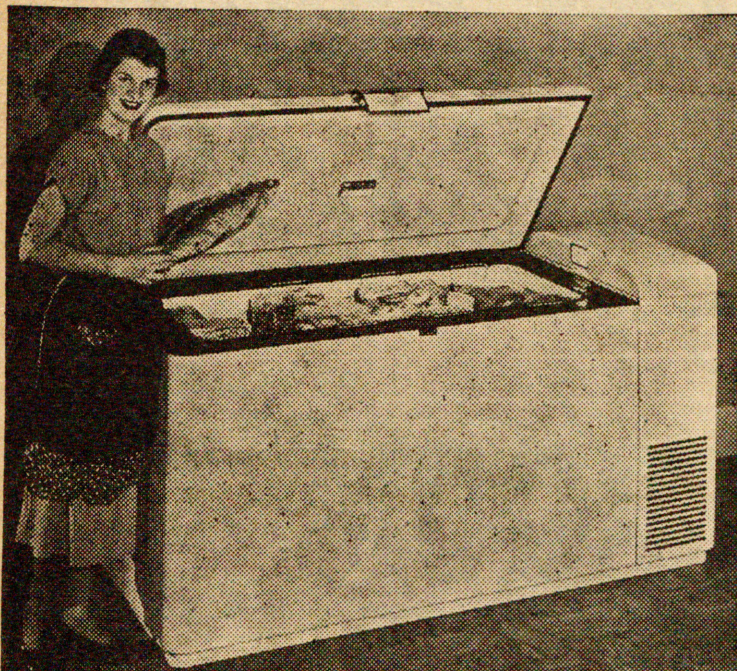

Tinley plays Rogers Park at Memorial Park August 19. Game time 2:30 p.m.

Dear Mrs. Semmler:
Thank you for sending me the copy of your Mokena paper, with page 1 story about my poem, "Mokena", and for running the poem, as well as the story, in the Orland and Tinley Park papers, which Mrs. Mary Clark brought to me, at the office. You may have wondered about my attachment for Mokena, to the point of writing some trochaic verses about it, so I'll take time out to explain.

My attachment for Mokena is more or less recollective, or reflective. My brother, Joe, who now lives in California, dragged me out there many years ago with some of his cronies, to partake of a weenie roast on the banks of Hickory creek. Thereafter I went willingly, two or three times a year, until the small band of cronies was scattered to the four winds.

It may interest you to know that one Charles Smith, one of Mokena's village fathers, was the guiding spirit of these little expeditions to Hickory creek. We met at his home in the days when dear old Mrs. Smith was alive. On these occasions, we visited with her for awhile, and then the bunch of us—Harry Van Horn, Charlie Coventry, my brother, Joe, and myself, would drive over to Joe (Kohl), the farmer's place, (I never knew his name, just knew that he was a good Joe). Farmer Joe gave us free use of his farmlands, and always wished us good hunting as we trudged off with the coffee pot, etc., but I cannot remember ever bringing back a rabbit from one of these trips.

That crack I made in the poem about the hawks flying low was a little high falutin', because not one of them ever flew low enough for any one of us to bring him down with a shotgun, although we did get a few shots at hawks during the years, but it took Joe, the farmer, to really bring them down. He kept chickens, of course.

We lugged a lot of grub that mile down to your beautiful meandering stream, and ducked through ever so many barbed wire fences, and I'll swear my brother Joe got hooked on every one of them. Once set at the camp site, the next chore was to pick up sticks and branches in the woodland for a fire and get the coffee going. Charlie Smith, who always prided himself on being an Injun, was a crackjack at starting a fire with soaking wet wood, and one match.

It was lovely in those woods, especially in the fall, when the big red oak leaves would come drifting down and flop into Hickory creek, and we'd watch them being borne away, while camera fan, Joe, would take a few shots. Only today I received from him, from California, a beautiful picture of Hickory creek peppered with fallen leaves, taken many years ago, and, in contrast, I recall the time, one February or March when the banks of the creek were lined with great cakes of ice, nearly a foot thick, which the receding waters had left behind. That was some winter!

Well, as the years rolled on, good old Charlie Coventry went to his reward, Harry Van Horn moved to Indiana, and Joe to California. All I have now is my memories of these cronies, and the many delightful excursions we had, in winter, summer, spring and fall, to the banks of Hickory creek—that, and an album of Hickory creek pictures. The town, too, held its charm for all of us, and every time we drove past that old brewery I'd ask Smitty if it would ever open up again.

The old days for us on Hickory creek are gone, but I am sure of this. Joe would gladly trade all the mountain peaks and trout streams of California for one more chance to watch the coffee boil over while swapping stories with Smitty, the Injun, on the banks of Hickory creek.

I'm going to make it a point to come to your Homecoming, Mrs. Semmler, and hope to make your acquaintance at that time.

Sincerely yours,
Charles A. Singler
